

Contents

Special Issue: The Mississippi Papers (Part I)

Guest Editors: Thomas Turnbull, Christoph Rosol and Jürgen Renn

- Introduction: The Mississippi River Basin—a model for studying the Anthropocene in situ 99
Christoph Rosol, Thomas Turnbull and Jürgen Renn
- Geological evolution of the Mississippi River into the Anthropocene 115
Catherine Russell, Colin N Waters, Stephen Himson, Rachael Holmes, Annika Burns, Jan Zalasiewicz and Mark Williams
- Bison, anthropogenic fire, and the origins of agriculture in eastern North America 141
Natalie G Mueller, Robert N Spengler III, Ashley Glenn and Kunsang Lama
- An anti-racist and anti-colonial Anthropocene for compromised times 159
Nicholas A Brown and Sarah E Kanouse
- Knowledge infrastructure and research agendas for quotidian Anthropocenes: Critical localism with planetary scope 169
Kim Fortun, James Adams, Tim Schütz and Scott Gabriel Knowles
- Born Secret (Cash for Kryptonite): A field guide to the Anthropocene mode of production 183
Brian Holmes, Jeremy Bolen and Brian Kirkbride
- The treadmill of protection: How public finance constrains climate adaptation 196
Ian Gray